EPISODE 2: 'Mawdryn Undead' (Working Title)

by

Peter Grimwade

TELECINE 1:

TURLOUGH is about to strike THE DOCTOR.

THE DOCTOR has the box open and fiddles inside.

THE DOCTOR: Done it!

Suddenly there is a loud bang and lots of smoke.

Both TURLOUGH and
THE DOCTOR are thrown backwards, TURLOUGH dropping his rock.

1. INT. TARDIS. DAY.

(THE COLUMN STARTS TO MOVE)

TEGAN: Here we go.

TELECINE 2:

Ext. Hilltop. Day.

THE DOCTOR and TURLOUGH prostrate. They are unhurt.

THE DOCTOR: (LOOKS UP) That shouldn't have happened.

The materialisation noise. The Tardis slowly becomes visible.

THE DOCTOR smiles.

TURLOUGH watches.

THE DOCTOR: Thank goodness.

But instead of stabilising the Tardis fades away.

THE DOCTOR looks at the empty space in dismay.

TURLOUGH: What's happened?

THE DOCTOR shrugs.

TURLOUGH: Could it have been effected by tangenital deviation coming out of the warp elipse?

THE DOCTOR gives TURLOUGH the merest look. It's an odd question for a schoolboy.

THE DOCTOR: Not with a dead reckoning alignment in the coordinates. We are in 1983?

TURLOUGH: Yes.

THE DOCTOR: Then it should be here.

TURLOUGH: As it isn't, where's it gone?

THE DOCTOR: I haven't the remotest idea.

2. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977.

(TEGAN AND NYSSA ARE WATCHING THE COLUMN
AS IT SLOWS DOWN AND STOPS)

TEGAN: That didn't take long.

NYSSA: We were already close to the Earth.

(SHE OPENS THE SCREEN.

VIEW OF THE HILLSIDE AND OBELISK)

TEGAN: Where's the Doctor?

(NYSSA LOOKS ANXIOUSLY AT THE SCREEN AND THEN AT THE CONTROLS)

Nyssa, are you sure this is the right place?

NYSSA: Should be.

TEGAN: Something's wrong isn't it?

NYSSA: I don't know.

(OBVIOUSLY UNHAPPY WITH SOMETHING. SHE CHEERS UP AND OPENS THE DOORS)

I'm sure the Doctor's only wandered off.

TELECINE 3:

Ext. Hilltop Day. 1983.

By the Obelisk. Exactly the area seen on the screen in the Tardis.

THE DOCTOR and TURLOUGH.
THE DOCTOR moves to the transmat box and bends down to examine it.

TURLOUGH: Will your friends be safe?

THE DOCTOR: I hope so.

THE DOCTOR fiddles
inside the box.

THE DOCTOR: (MUTTERS) What did
I do wrong?

TURLOUGH edges to the other side of the Obelisk.

TURLOUGH: (WHISPERS) What do I do now?

Nothing happens

TURLOUGH is hurt and angry at the lack of response.

TURLOUGH: Say something!

SECOND BRIGADIER: (O.O.V.) Turlough!

TURLOUGH jumps. He looks up and sees SECOND BRIGADIER and IBBOTSON coming round the other side of the hill.

They should be so placed that IBBOTSON and the BRIGADIER do not see the capsule.

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1977.

Tardis by the Obelisk.

TEGAN and NYSSA walk from the Tardis towards the Obelisk.

NYSSA: Doctor!

TEGAN: There's nobody here.

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1983.

SECOND BRIGADIER followed by IBBOTSON joins TURLOUGH.

SECOND BRIGADIER: So there you are, Turlough!

TURLOUGH: Sir?

SECOND BRIGADIER: What the devil do you think you're doing ...

IBBOTSON runs up panting.

IBBOTSON: Turlough, what happened? The sphere ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: Do be quiet, boy! Turlough, you're supposed to be in the sickbay.

TURLOUGH: There's nothing wrong with me, sir.

SECOND BRIGADIER: That's neither here nor there. You've no right to be out of school ...

IBBOTSON: But the sphere. It disappeared ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: Ibbotson!

IBBOTSON: You went into the sphere and it vanished.

TURLOUGH: What are you talking about? There wasn't any sphere.

IBBOTSON: (UPSET) But there was! (TURNS TO BRIGADIER) A great big, silver ...

TURLOUGH: I think Ibbotson's out of his mind, sir.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Thank you, Turlough. I can do without your observations ...

IBBOTSON: But I saw it, sir!

SECOND BRIGADIER: Ibbotson, will you stop babbling! Now Turlough. What have you got to say for yourself?

TURLOUGH: I was with The Doctor.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Doctor? Doctor Runciman?

TURLOUGH: No, sir.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Then who on earth ...

THE DOCTOR comes from behind the Obelisk.

TURLOUGH: This Doctor.

SECOND BRIGADIER looks at THE DOCTOR suspiciously.

THE DOCTOR looks at the BRIGADIER in amazed recognition.

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier!

SECOND BRIGADIER: Who are you?

THE DOCTOR rushing forward to shake his hand:

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier Alistair Gordon Lethbridge-Stewart!

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1977.

TEGAN and NYSSA waiting by the Obelisk.

TEGAN: (POINTING) Down there in the valley.

P.O.V. School buildings in the valley below.

NYSSA: I saw someone move.

TEGAN: Can't be The Doctor. There hasn't been time for him to get that far. Maybe the capsule's malfunctioned. I hate those transmat things. Like travelling in a food mixer. And just as dangerous. I'd be afraid of coming out pureed.

NYSSA: Look!

The capsule appears a few yards in front of them.

They run towards it.
The door opens.

TEGAN: Doctor?

A FIGURE stumbles out.
He is black. All clothing burnt away. The body is charred and distorted beyond recognition. It is MAWDRYN. He writhes in pain.

NYSSA: Doctor!

MAWDRYN collapses on the ground.

TEGAN and NYSSA look at him appalled. It does not cross their minds that this might not be THE DOCTOR.

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1983.

SECOND BRIGADIER and THE DOCTOR, watched by IBBOTSON and TURLOUGH.

SECOND BRIGADIER: I'm sorry, Doctor.
But if we have met before, it's entirely slipped my memory.

A moment's hurt surprise from THE DOCTOR. Then he smiles.

THE DOCTOR: Of course.

He puts his hand to his face.

THE DOCTOR: I'd forgotten.

SECOND BRIGADIER: I beg your pardon.

THE DOCTOR: We're none of us getting any younger.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Is that a fact.

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier, I'm into my fourth regeneration!

SECOND BRIGADIER looks at THE DOCTOR as if he were a religious maniac. He glances over his shoulder, anxious to keep the boys out of the conversation.

SECOND BRIGADIER: I've got to get these boys back to school.
But I'm sure the Headmaster would appreciate an explanation of exactly what ...

THE DOCTOR: How could you forget me so easily, Brigadier?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Sorry. But I never knew you, Doctor.

The BRIGADIER turns to IBBOTSON and TURLOUGH.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Right, you two boys. Back to school.

THE DOCTOR: What would you say if I told you I was looking for my Tardis?

SECOND BRIGADIER: What on earth's a Tardis?

THE DOCTOR: (DISMAYED) What!

IBBOTSON: (PUSHING FORWARD) What is a Tardis?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Ibbotson! I won't tell you again ...

THE DOCTOR: (DESPERATE) The Police Box, Brigadier! Time and Relative Dimention in Space!

SECOND BRIGADIER: Doctor, I haven't the remotest idea what you're talking about.

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1977.

MAWDRYN lies on the ground writhing and groaning.

TEGAN and NYSSA kneel beside him, very upset, and quite at a loss as to what to do.

TEGAN: Look at the state he's in! What are we going to do?

NYSSA: We mustn't panic.

TEGAN: He could die! Doctor, what happened?

MAWDRYN moans. Then recovers a little strength.

MAWDRYN: Where ... Where am I?

NYSSA: You're on Earth, Doctor. You came in the transmat capsule.

MAWDRYN: Earth ...?

TEGAN: You're by the Tardis.

The word produces a magical effect.

MAWDRYN: Tardis ... Tardis?

His whole body trembles with excitement.

NYSSA: Over there, Doctor. Let me help you.

MAWDRYN raises himself up so he can see the Tardis. His moaning increases. Then he lets out an estatic cry.

MAWDRYN: Tardis!

He sinks, exhausted,
back to the ground.

NYSSA: Doctor!

MAWDRYN: (FIGHTING FOR THE WORDS) Take me ... Take me into ... the Tardis!

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1983.

THE DOCTOR with SECOND BRIGADIER,
TURLOUGH and IBBOTSON.

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier, even if you've forgotten about the Tardis, surely you remember UNIT?

A positive reaction.

SECOND BRIGADIER: What?

THE DOCTOR: (MUCH RELIEVED)
You do?

IBBOTSON: What UNIT?

THE DOCTOR: You see the Brigadier and I used to work together. An organisation that ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: (VERY FIRM) Doctor, if you do know anything about that "organisation", you will almost certainly have signed the Official Secrets Act!

THE DOCTOR: Ah! Of course.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Exactly.
Right everybody. We're going back down.

They start to move off.

The BRIGADIER takes
THE DOCTOR to one side.

SECOND BRIGADIER: And if you really are from UNIT, we'd better have a quiet talk in my quarters.

3. INT. TARDIS. CONTROL ROOM. DAY.

(NYSSA AND TEGAN
COME IN, DRAGGING MAWDRYN BETWEEN THEM.)

HE SINKS TO THE FLOOR WITH A SIGH OF RELIEF, AS A DYING MAN MIGHT RECEIVE OXYGEN.

TEGAN AND NYSSA
LOOK DOWN AT HIM HELPLESSLY)

TEGAN: Get some clothes!

NYSSA: Don't you think we should take him into the ...

TEGAN: It's too risky to move him again. Go and find some blankets. We must keep him warm.

(NYSSA GOES INTO THE INNER TARDIS)

It's all right, Doctor, you're safe inside the Tardis.

(SHE INSTINCTIVELY FEELS FOR HIS HAND TO COMFORT HIM)

TELECINE 4:

Ext. School Day. 1983.

Outskirts of the grounds.

SECOND BRIGADIER, DOCTOR, IBBOTSON and TURLOUGH are approaching. They are going towards the school.

THE DOCTOR: You know, Brigadier, I thought we might have met up again over the missing Concorde.

SECOND BRIGADIER: (CAUTIONING)
Doctor!

IBBOTSON: (EARWIGGING) Did you say Concorde? Has Concorde crashed?

SECOND BRIGADIER: (ATROCIOUS ACCENT) Pas devant les enfants, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: Sorry.

IBBOTSON: We're not children!

TURLOUGH is keen to insinuate himself with THE DOCTOR. He is also humiliated at being dragged back to school by the BRIGADIER.
He moves to the Doctor's side.

TURLOUGH, mocking parody of the BRIGADIER.

TURLOUGH: Pas devant les enfants!

Laughs, then changes gear into a perfect accent.

TURLOUGH: Qu'il est déplorable ce veteran avec son galimatias militaire.

THE DOCTOR: Mais c'est mon
ancien ami, n'est-ce pas, Monsieur le Brigadier!

It has the desired effect. The BRIGADIER is furious.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Right, Turlough. Into sick bay at the double! And you, Ibbotson.
Report to Mr. Sellick immediately. Doctor, you'll come with me.

4. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977.

(MAWDRYN STILL ON THE FLOOR.

TEGAN AND NYSSA
HAVE BEEN PUTTING SOME BLANKETS ROUND HIM. THESE SHOULD INCLUDE TOM BAKER'S OLD RED COAT.

MAWDRYN IS NO LONGER
GROANING. HE LIES
STILL BREATHING REGULARLY)

TEGAN: I think he's unconscious.

NYSSA: Something must have happened to the transmat capsule.

TEGAN: I told you those things were dangerous!

NYSSA: (SUDDENLY REMEMBERING) That boy!

TEGAN: Turlough! I forgot about him. He must still be in the capsule.

(SHE GETS UP)

Stay here!

(RUSHES TO THE DOORS AND GOES OUT)

5. INT. SICKBAY. DAY. 1983.

(TURLOUGH SITTING ON THE BED. HE HOLDS UP THE CUBE.
NOTHING. TURLOUGH
VERY FRUSTRATED.

HE GOES OVER TO THE DOOR. IT IS LOCKED.

HE GOES BACK TO THE BED, PLACES THE CUBE ON THE TABLE, LIES DOWN AND CLOSES HIS EYES)

- 2/21 -

6. INT. TRANSMAT CAPSULE. DAY. 1977.

(TEGAN PEERS IN.
IT IS EMPTY)

7. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY.

(NYSSA WITH MAWDRYN.
HE REGAINS CONSCIOUSNESS FOR A MOMENT)

MAWDRYN: Stability not achieved ...
Transmat projection destructive ...
Stability not achieved ... No end ...

(HE LAPSES UN-CONSCIOUS AGAIN)

NYSSA: You're safe now, Doctor.

(TEGAN COMES BACK
IN)

TEGAN: No sign of him.

NYSSA: He could have been atomised.

TEGAN: Or even wandered off.

TELECINE 5:

Ext. School Grounds.
Day. 1983.

Near the Brigadier's
caravan.

THE DOCTOR and SECOND BRIGADIER towards the caravan.

THE DOCTOR: Is this an undercover operation, Brigadier? I mean I hardly expected to find you at a boy's ...

The BRIGADIER stops by the caravan.

THE DOCTOR is surprised.

The BRIGADIER has come down in the world.

THE DOCTOR: Your quarters?

BRIGADIER: If a caravan was good enough for Monty, Doctor ...

THE DOCTOR: Quite.

They go in.

8. INT. CARAVAN. DAY.

(A BED IN ONE CORNER, A DESK
AND SOME CHAIRS.
QUITE A LOT OF CLUTTER. A KITCHENETTE THROUGH A PARTITION.

THE DOCTOR COMES IN, FOLLOWED BY THE
SECOND BRIGADIER.

THE BRIGADIER GOES INTO THE KITCHENETTE AND PUTS A KETTLE ON THE GAS RING.

THE DOCTOR WANDERS ROUND THE LIVING ROOM LOOKING AT THE MANY PICTURES.
MOSTLY SCHOOL GROUPS.

HE PICKS UP A PHOTOGRAPH. IT SHOWS A YOUNGER BRIGADIER)

SECOND BRIGADIER: So what's all this about Unit?

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier, I need your help. I've lost the Tardis.

SECOND BRIGADIER: I don't know what the Tardis is, Doctor. I've already told you.

THE DOCTOR: And you don't remember me?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Certainly not. Still, whoever you are I can't let you wander round blabbing about classified Unit operations.

THE DOCTOR: There's more at stake than a breach of security. I've lost my Tardis. You've lost your memory. I'd be surprised if the two event's weren't connected.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Doctor, I am in full possession of all my faculties. If I was suffering from Amnesia, I'd be the first to know about it wouldn't I!

9. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977

(TEGAN AND NYSSA
BESIDE THE UN-CONSCIOUS MAWDRYN)

TEGAN: (GETTING UP) I'm going for help.

NYSSA: Where?

TEGAN: To that building we saw.
Use their phone.

NYSSA: If only we still had the zero room ... It's restorative power would have helped.

TEGAN: As we haven't, a hospital is the next best thing. I'm off.

NYSSA: All right. But take the homing device.

(SHE PRODUCES A SMALL SPHERE FROM UNDER THE CONSOLE)

TEGAN: (TAKING IT) I'll be as quick as I can.

(NYSSA OPENS THE DOORS)

10. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE DOCTOR AND
SECOND BRIGADIER)

THE DOCTOR: (CASUAL) By the way, how's Corporal Benton these days?

in seventy nine. Sells second hand cars somewhere.

THE DOCTOR: And Harry Sullivan?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Seconded to Nato. Last heard of doing something very hush-hush at Porton Down.

THE DOCTOR: Ever see anything of Jo Grant?

SECOND BRIGADIER: What?

THE DOCTOR: Jo Grant. My assistant.

SECOND BRIGADIER: (CONFUSED)
Jo Grant ...

THE DOCTOR: (PROBING) Sarah Jane
... ? Liz Shaw you'll remember, of course ...

(THE BRIGADIER LOOKS
STRANGELY AT HIM.
MOVES DIZZILY TO THE TABLE AND SITS)

Are you all right?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Someone just walked over my grave.

(IN ON THE BRIGADIER'S EYES. SUPERIMPOSE
A CLIP FROM .....)

THE DOCTOR: Perhaps it was a Cyberman. Remember the Cybermen? Colonel Lethbridge Stewart.

(THE CYBERMEN.
THEN A MONTAGE OF VARIOUS CLIMATIC MOMENTS FROM THE BRIGADIER'S ADVENTURES WITH THE DOCTOR.

FINALLY THE BRIGADIER OPENS HIS EYES.

THE DOCTOR IS SMILING
AT HIM. HE HAS POURED OUT THE TEA)

One lump or two, Brigadier?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Well, bless my soul. You've done it again, Doctor.

- 2/29 -

TELECINE 6:

Ext. Hillside Day.
1977.

TEGAN running down the hill as fast as she can.

- 29 -

11. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE DOCTOR AND
SECOND BRIGADIER)

SECOND BRIGADIER: I really must apologise for my cavalier behaviour when we met, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: Hardly your fault, Brigadier.

SECOND BRIGADIER: The Doctor and the Tardis. How could I ever forget!

THE DOCTOR: Exactly.

SECOND BRIGADIER: What?

THE DOCTOR: The mental block.
There must be a reason. Some trauma. Some shocking experience.
Maybe some induced effect.

SECOND BRIGADIER: (GETTING FROSTY)
I don't scare quickly, Doctor.
Nor do I succumb easily to brainwashing techniques.

THE DOCTOR: If there was a way of tracing how far back the inhibition goes, you could get some treatment for the ...

(THE WORD "TREATMENT" IS LIKE A RED RAG TO A BULL.)

SECOND BRIGADIER: Treatment?
Treatment? There's nothing wrong with me, Doctor!

THE DOCTOR: Well, no ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: 'A' one!
Always have been!

THE DOCTOR: Absolutely.

SECOND BRIGADIER: I suppose you've been talking behind my back with Doctor Runciman.

THE DOCTOR: Brigadier ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: There's loyalty for you!

(THE DOCTOR LETS THE BRIGADIER RANT ON)

Well it's no good. I'm not taking my leave at the funny farm.
There's nothing wrong I tell you.
Fit as a fiddle. Always have been ...

(THE STEAM SUDDENLY GOES OUT OF HIM.
HE PULLS HIMSELF TOGETHER)

Sorry about that, Doctor. Had a bit of bother a while back.
Overwork you know, Doctor Runciman called it a nervous breakdown.
Breakdown? Don't know the meaning of the word. This one goes on till he drops.

12. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977.

(NYSSA PACES UP AND DOWN. SHE LOOKS AT THE SCREEN.

NO SIGN OF TEGAN.

BELOW THE CONSOLE
MAWDRYN STILL LIES ON THE FLOOR. HIS BREATHING CHANGES.

HE MOVES SLIGHTLY.
AN EYE FLICKERS
OPEN)

13. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE SECOND BRIGADIER IS MUCH MORE RELAXED)

THE DOCTOR: When did you leave Unit, Brigadier?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Seven years ago. Of course, I could have retired on my pension. Grown vegetable marrows and died of boredom in a twelve month. But then this job turned up. Bit of admin, bit of rugger, C.O.
in the school Corps.

THE DOCTOR: And you teach?

SECOND BRIGADIER: Mathematics.

(THE DOCTOR SMILES)

I know how many beans make five, Doctor. And you don't have to be a Time Lord to cope with O level maths.

(THE DOCTOR IS STILL SMILING)

It may come as a surprise to you, but I also happen to like teaching

TELECINE 7:

Ext. School. Day. 1977.

Somewhere in the grounds.
A GROUP OF BOYS passing.
A holiday atmosphere.
They are all wearing very casual clothes.

SEVERAL of them wear jubilee tee shirts.

Somewhere in the background a Union Jack can be seen flying.
The odd bit of bunting.

In the distance TEGAN comes running.

TEGAN: Hey!

The BOYS turn.
Surprised to see a woman.

TEGAN reaches them.

TEGAN: Can I find a doctor round here?

They all look dumb.

TEGAN: Look, someone's been hurt!

FIRST BOY: There's no-one in school.

SECOND BOY: Everyone's on Top Field.

- 2/35 -

TEGAN: There must be a master or something.

FIRST BOY: You'd better see the Brigadier.

- 35 -

14. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE DOCTOR AND SECOND BRIGADIER)

THE DOCTOR: Well, Brigadier.
Much as I appreciate your company,
I've still got to find my Tardis.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Your Tardis, Doctor? You know, I never believed it did half the things you claimed.

THE DOCTOR: Just at the moment
I'd settle for half a Tardis.
And I'm very worried about Nyssa and Tegan.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Tegan? Tegan?

THE DOCTOR: What's the matter?

SECOND BRIGADIER: I knew a Tegan
once.

THE DOCTOR: Tegan's after your time. She's travelling with me in the Tardis.

SECOND BRIGADIER: An attractive girl. Spirited. Spoke with an Australian accent.

THE DOCTOR: What did you say!

SECOND BRIGADIER: Australian. Yes.
It's all coming back. Tegan ...
Jovanka. That was her name.

TELECINE 8:

Ext. Caravan. Day. 1977.

THE FIRST BOY leads TEGAN to the caravan.

FIRST BOY: You'll find the Brig
in there.

He leaves her.
She knocks on the door.

It opens and FIRST
BRIGADIER looks out.
He is much younger and spritlier than
the second Brigadier,
dressed in smart blazer and regimental tie.

From inside the caravan
we hear the television.
It is the BBC commentary on the Jubilee celebrations.

FIRST BRIGADIER: Hello there.

TEGAN: I'm sorry to disturb you,
but I'm looking for a Doctor.
There's been an accident. Well a sort of accident. A friend of mine ... and possibly one of the boys from this school... he may be hurt too ...

She is not making much sense.

FIRST BRIGADIER: I think you'd better come in.

15. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1977.

(FURNITURE ARRANGED DIFFERENTLY FROM 1983. MUCH TIDIER.
LESS CLUTTER. THE PICTURES ARE ALL MILITARY.

THE FIRST BRIGADIER AND TEGAN COME IN.

THE BRIGADIER TURNS DOWN THE SOUND ON THE T.V.)

FIRST BRIGADIER: Right. Sit yourself down, er ... young lady.

TEGAN: The name's Tegan Jovanka.

(SECOND BRIGADIER AND THE DOCTOR)

THE DOCTOR: It is Tegan!

SECOND BRIGADIER: That's what I said.

THE DOCTOR: Your Tegan. My Tegan. The same person!.

SECOND BRIGADIER: (BLITHELY)
Of course, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: Tegan, Nyssa, the Tardis. They're all here.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Are they?

THE DOCTOR: Or rather they were.
If you see what I mean.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Not a hundred percent, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: I must have miscalculated the offset. The Tardis came through to the right place, but the wrong time zone.

SECOND BRIGADIER: You and that Tardis!

THE DOCTOR: Now, it's vital you remember exactly what happened.

SECOND BRIGADIER: It was a long time ago. Surely what's past is ...

THE DOCTOR: Very much in the present, Brigadier. You never did appreciate the inter relation of time.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Not much call for that in the O level syllabus, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: (VERY SERIOUS) Brigadier, you have in your memory the information I need to track down the Tardis and communicate with Nyssa and Tegan!

FIRST BRIGADIER POURS TEGAN A STIFF DRINK.
SHE TAKES IT GRATEFULLY)

FIRST BRIGADIER: Now calm down, my dear, and tell me about it in words of one syllable.

TEGAN: A friend of ours and a boy from the school were travelling ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: Boy? What boy?

TEGAN: Turlough.

FIRST BRIGADIER: Turlough? I don't think we have a Turlough ...

TEGAN: But you must have ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: (LOOKING IN A REGISTER) Better check because I'm a new boy here myself.

TEGAN: He was wearing the same uniform as ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: Trever, Trumper, Turner ... Definitely no Turlough.

TEGAN: But they were travelling together when they came down on the hill ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: Came down? Do you mean a plane crash?

TEGAN: Well ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: Good Lord, girl, why didn't you say so before. I'll phone through to our local constable at once. He can co-ordinate the rescue services ...

TEGAN: No! It's not like that. If we can just get some medical help and go back to the Tardis ...

FIRST BRIGADIER: (STUPIFIED)
Tardis? Did you say Tardis?

TEGAN: Yes. But you don't understand...

FIRST BRIGADIER: I think I do, young lady. Tell me, Miss Jovanka. This friend of yours. Is it by any chance ... The Doctor?

(THE DOCTOR AND SECOND BRIGADIER.)

SECOND BRIGADIER IS UPSET AND CONFUSED)

SECOND BRIGADIER: I don't understand Doctor. How could I forget all this.

THE DOCTOR: Not to worry.
Brigadier. A simple protective mechanism of the brain. The important thing is to remember everything now.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Doctor, you don't know what your asking.

THE DOCTOR: Something wrong?

SECOND BRIGADIER: (TREMBLING)
I've been in some pretty tight spots in my time. But unravelling all this ... I just feel we're on the verge of something really appalling. Doctor, I've never been so scared in my life.

19. INT. SICKBAY. DAY. 1983.

(TURLOUGH LYING IN BED. THE HEADMASTER STANDS BESIDE HIM)

HEADMASTER: There's nothing to be afraid of, Turlough. Now you've explained everything to me.

TURLOUGH: (MUCH RELIEVED) Thank you, sir.

HEADMASTER: In fact I'm very heartened you felt able to confide in me like this. Though I must say it's a most remarkable story.

TURLOUGH: But what am I to do,
sir!

HEADMASTER: Seems to me, you're in something of a moral dilemma.

TURLOUGH: Sir?

HEADMASTER: You've accepted a free passage home to your own people, but to fulfill your part of the bargain you have to kill this Doctor.

TURLOUGH: But I don't want to kill the Doctor.

HEADMASTER: I can see you're in a most invidious position.

TURLOUGH: Haven't I done enough to separate him from his Tardis?

HEADMASTER: I take your point. But in your heart of hearts, do you feel you've entirely completed your side of the bargain?

TURLOUGH: I suppose not.

HEADMASTER: We can't always get what we like in this world.

TURLOUGH: Please help me, sir!

HEADMASTER: I'm afraid I can only put the problem in perspective for you. The final choice has got to be yours.

TURLOUGH: I think I'm pulling out, sir. The Doctor's stranded, but what's been done for me? I've been ignored! I shall try and escape in the transmat capsule. He can sort out the Doctor himself from now on.

HEADMASTER: Is that your final decision?

TURLOUGH: Yes, sir.

(THE HEADMASTER WALKS
OVER TO THE WINDOW, AND STANDS WITH HIS BACK TO TURLOUGH)

HEADMASTER: Are you absolutely sure?

TURLOUGH: (DEFIANTLY) Yes!

(THE HEADMASTER TURNS
BACK TO TURLOUGH.

AS HE TURNS HE TRANSFORMS INTO THE BLACK GUARDIAN)

BALCK GUARDIAN: Waking, sleeping, you can never escape me,
Turlough!

(TURLOUGH SCREAMS VIOLENTLY AND LEAPS OUT OF BED.

HE LOOKS VAINLY ROUND
FOR SOMEWHERE TO ESCAPE.

HE SEES HIMSELF STILL SLEEPING ON THE BED.

THE ASTRAL PROJECTION OF TURLOUGH TURNS BACK TO FACE THE BLACK GUARDIAN)

You see, wretched, duplicitous child. I know your every inner-most thought!

TURLOUGH: Leave me alone ... please!

BLACK GUARDIAN: I invade every particle of your being. You will never be free from me until our bond is honoured.

(ON THE BED "TURLOUGH" IS MOVING ANXIOUSLY IN HIS SLEEP)

TURLOUGH: The Doctor isn't as you say.

BLACK GUARDIAN: I am the Black
Guardian. His good is my evil.

TURLOUGH: No!

BLACK GUARDIAN: You will absorb my will. You are to be consumed with my purpose.

(TURLOUGH CRIES OUT)

The Doctor shall be utterly destroyed.

TURLOUGH: The Doctor shall be destroyed.

(THE BLACK GUARDIAN VANISHES.

THE ASTRAL TURLOUGH MOVES OVER TO THE BED AND IS ABSORBED INTO THE SLEEPING TURLOUGH.

TURLOUGH STARTS TO THRASH ABOUT. HE SUDDENLY WAKES AND SITS UP, CRYING OUT IN MINDLESS TERROR.

HE SEES THE CUBE ON THE BEDSIDE TABLE. HE GETS UP AND GOES TO THE DOOR.

IT IS STILL LOCKED. LOOKS BACK AT THE CUBE, GOES OVER TO IT. TREMBLING, HE PICKS IT UP. IT IS INNERT.

HE PULLS A BLANKET OFF THE BED AND COVERS THE CUBE IN IT. PUTS THE BUNDLE DOWN IN THE CORNER OF THE ROOM.

HE GOES BACK TO THE BED AND PULLS OFF THE SHEETS. PICKS UP THE SHEETS THAT ARE LYING FOLDED ON THE SECOND BED)

20. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE DOCTOR AND SECOND BRIGADIER)

THE DOCTOR: What worries me is the level of coincidence in all this. Synchronicity right across time. Almost as if some cosmic influence ...

SECOND BRIGADIER: Doctor?

THE DOCTOR: Still, that won't get me back the Tardis. Now, Brigadier, we've got to establish the precise time this all happened.

SECOND BRIGADIER: That's a tall order, Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: Don't worry. Just relax. Think yourself back ...

TELECINE 12:

Ext. Caravan. Day. 1977.

FIRST BRIGADIER comes out followed by TEGAN.

FIRST BRIGADIER: We'll get a message to Doctor Runciman.
He'll be up on Top Field for the bun fight.

TEGAN: A bun fight?

FIRST BRIGADIER: The celebrations.
(SPOTS A PASSING BOY) Powell!
I've got a job for you!

TEGAN: What celebrations?

FIRST BRIGADIER: (SHOCKED) The Queen's Silver Jubilee, of course. (TURNS TO THE BOY) Get hold of Doctor Runciman, tell him to bring his gear and meet my by the obelisk ...

We GO CLOSE ON TEGAN.

TEGAN: The Silver Jubilee?
We're in the wrong time zone!

21. INT. CARAVAN. DAY. 1983.

(THE DOCTOR AND SECOND BRIGADIER)

THE DOCTOR: June the seventh nineteen seventy seven! Well done, Brigadier. Come on.

(MOVES TO THE DOOR)

TELECINE 13:

Ext. Caravan. 1983.

THE DOCTOR and SECOND BRIGADIER exit from the caravan and make their way towards the school.

THE DOCTOR: The only equipment I can use to communicate with the Tardis is in the transmat capsule. But it's just possible ...

They arrive at the school
the BRIGADIER stops.

From an upper window a rope of knotted sheets hangs down.

SECOND BRIGADIER: Turlough!

Ext. School. Day. 1983.

SOUND OF A KEY IN THE LOCK.

THE DOOR OPENS.

SECOND BRIGADIER AND THE DOCTOR COME IN.

THE BRIGADIER GOES
OVER TO THE WINDOW AND LOOKS OUT.

THE DOCTOR LOOKS ROUND THE ROOM AND SPOTS THE BUNDLE
IN THE CORNER.

PICKS IT UP. THE CUBE ROLLS OUT OF
THE BLANKET. HE EXAMINES THE CUBE THOUGHTFULLY)

THE DOCTOR: He's trying to get away in the transmat capsule.
That is if he can repair the beam transmitter.

SECOND BRIGADIER: (OVERHEARING HIM) Turlough?

THE DOCTOR: Could be done.
(SUDDEN URGENCY) Then I'd never get the Tardis back!.

(HE LEAVES QUICKLY.
THE BRIGADIER FOLLOWS)

SECOND BRIGADIER: (O.O.V.) But he's not capable, Doctor ....!

TELECINE 14:

Ext. Hillside. Day.

FIRST BRIGADIER and TEGAN climbing towards the Obelisk. They are still only at the bottom of the hill.
They pass a convenient
landmark.

TEGAN: I've heard the Doctor talk about you, Brigadier.

FIRST BRIGADIER: Really,
Miss Jovanka.

TEGAN: Used your name to get us out of a bit of trouble we had at Heathrow
once.

FIRST BRIGADIER: He hasn't changed.

TEGAN pauses to get her bearings. Gets out the homing device. It bleats reassuringly.

TEGAN: Spot on.

FIRST BRIGADIER: One of the Doctor's gadgets? (TAKES IT FROM HER)

TEGAN: Don't want to miss the Tardis.

She moves on again.
Suddenly stops. Turns back horrified.

TEGAN: I've just realised.
The Doctor was expecting the Tardis to follow him through to 1983. Don't you see? The wounded thing that came out of the capsule. Maybe it wasn't The Doctor after all!

Ext. Hillside. Day. 1983.

SECOND BRIGADIER and THE DOCTOR go past the same
landmark.

THE DOCTOR: Tegan is absolutely right. I am not in the Tardis!

SECOND BRIGADIER: Then who is? Or do I mean was?

THE DOCTOR: (DESPERATE) You tell me, Brigadier!

SECOND BRIGADIER: (UPSET)
I don't think I can remember any more. It's difficult. Everything is too hazy.

BRIGADIER is puffing and blowing.

THE DOCTOR: Hurry,
Brigadier. Nyssa could be in danger.

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1977.

By the TARDIS. NYSSA is waiting anxiously. She looks down into the valley below.

NYSSA: Tegan, come on!

23. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977.

(MAWDRYN IS STILL ON THE FLOOR. BUT HE IS OBVIOUSLY RECOVERING. HE GETS TO HIS FEET CLUTCHING A BLANKET AROUND HIM SO THAT ONLY HIS CHARRED FACE CAN BE SEEN.

NYSSA COMES IN AND SEES THE SHROUDED MAWDRYN STAGGERING ROUND THE CONSOLE)

NYSSA: Doctor! You're better!

(HE TURNS.

SHE GASPS AS SHE SEES THE STRANGE FACE PARTLY HIDDEN BY THE BLANKET)

MAWDRYN: Perpetual regeneration ...

NYSSA: Regeneration? Doctor, you don't mean it's happening again ...

MAWDRYN: (WRETCHEDLY) Life without end or form ... changing ... changing ...

NYSSA: Doctor, we've lost the zero room. Is there any way we can reconfigure ...

MAWDRYN: Do not be afraid on my account. I shall regain strength soon.

(HE CLUTCHES AT THE CONSOLE)

But now my mind is clouded ...
You understand the navigation?

NYSSA: Well, a bit. At the moment we're still aligned with the ship.

MAWDRYN: Ah! That is well ...
Prepare to leave at once.

NYSSA: We can't leave without Tegan!

MAWDRYN: At once!

(HE STAGGERS TO THE CONTROLS. BUT HE IS OBVIOUSLY GOING TO NEED NYSSA'S
HELP TO TAKE OFF)

NYSSA: Doctor, you don't know what you're saying. Tegan will be back very soon.

(SHE GOES THROUGH THE DOORS TO LOOK FOR TEGAN.

MAWDRYN IS OBVIOUSLY VERY PLEASED)

MAWDRYN: The Time Lords abandoned us. Eternal torment and despair. But the ending will come to us now.

(HE FLINGS ASIDE THE BLANKET AND PICKS UP TOM BAKER'S COAT)

I, Mawdryn of Kastron, shall be a Time Lord!

TELECINE 15:

Ext. Hilltop. Day. 1977.

NYSSA runs from the TARDIS. She sees FIRST BRIGADIER and TEGAN approaching.

NYSSA: Quickly. We've got to take off.

TEGAN: Nyssa ... that man.
I don't think he's The Doctor!.

NYSSA: But he is! The transmat process induced a regeneration.

TEGAN: What?

FIRST BRIGADIER: Don't worry. I know all about regeneration. I've seen it before. Come on.

NYSSA looks at the BRIGADIER in surprise.
The BRIGADIER goes straight into the TARDIS.

NYSSA: So have we and The Doctor almost died ... Who is that person?

TEGAN: Brigadier Lethbridge-Stewart, of course. Come on.

They follow into the TARDIS.

24. INT. TARDIS CONTROL ROOM. DAY. 1977.

(MAWDRYN, WEARING TOM BAKER'S RED COAT, STANDS, CONFIDENTLY NOW, IN FRONT OF THE CONSOLE WITH HIS BACK TO THE DOOR.

THE BRIGADIER COMES IN FOLLOWED BY NYSSA
AND TEGAN)

FIRST BRIGADIER: Doctor!

(MAWDRYN TURNS.

WE SEE HIS FULLY CONSTITUTED FEATURES.
FRIGHTENING AND ALIEN.

TEGAN SCREAMS)

FADE OUT
